Town's crime rate rockets

Police hit streets in early hours after sudden surge in incidents

A WEEK-LONG 'crime spike' has hit Haverhill – bucking the trend after annual figures showed a dramatic drop in crime figures.

Now police officers in plain clothes will be patrolling the streets in the early hours of the morning in a bid to catch criminals in action.

Insp Peter Ferrie, who took over as sector commander for Haverhill last October, said in the past week a total of 33 "acquisitive" crimes – in which property is stolen – had been reported in the area, compared to an average over the three previous years of 18.

Of these, 26 were in the town itself, compared the previous average of 14. There had been four house burglaries, compared to a previous average of one, and nine burglaries from sheds or garages, compared to three previously.

However, year-on-year figures showed a 10 per cent drop in acquisitive crimes, from a total of 848 to 763.

Author brings art alive

Art lesson: children's author James Mayhew at Kedington Primary School with children from Years 3 and 4.

A COLOURFUL display of art through the ages was created by a group of primary school children – with some expert help from children's author and illustrator James Mayhew.

The writer of many children's books, including Katie's Picture Show, Mr Mayhew agreed to go along to Kedington Primary School and help the youngsters create eight large poster boards showing the history of art. Their work ranged from cave paintings right up to modern artists such as Banksy, as well as styles such as Renaissance art, pointillism and cubism.

Teacher Karen Sheargold said 60 Year 3 children took part in the activity, using enamel paint donated by Buildbase of Haverhill.

She said: "He was brilliant. There was paint everywhere and the children really enjoyed themselves. Afterwards he stayed and signed books and did pencil drawings for the children. He was very generous with his time and it was a very nice day."

The boards will be put together to create one big display in the school hall.

MP hits out at 'rewards for failure'

HAVERHILL'S MP has hit out at the culture of 'rewards for failure' and called for executives to be prosecuted for serious financial recklessness.

Matthew Hancock, MP for West Suffolk and co-author of the recent book Masters of Nothing, was making a speech to the Policy Exchange group in Parliament. Before becoming an MP he had worked for the Bank of England and as an advisor to Chancellor George Osborne.

Mr Hancock, right, outlined the ways in which 'rewards for failure' are wrong ethically and bad economically. He said the Conservative Party is ideally placed to challenge the issue and that of executive pay more widely.

In his speech, he said: "It's been called the 'something-for-nothing' culture; economists call it rent extraction, I call it 'rewards for failure'."

"These examples of rewards for failure are part of a broader something-for-nothing culture that grew up in our welfare system, in parts of the public sector, and in some of our boardrooms too. I want to argue that on both counts – on the economics and on the ethics – rewards for failure must be addressed and that addressing them runs deep in the conservative tradition.

BY JO DEEKS

Email: editorial@haverhillweeklynews.co.uk

"For years Labour failed to act, afraid as they were of upsetting the Faustian pact they had entered into: to let banks rip and spend the tax revenues. We all know how that ended.

"The rule of law; enforcement of contract; monopoly controls; anti subsidy; insider trading rules; these are all crucial to well-functioning markets, to ensure markets are fair, so success to link reward to success not failure.

"I want to see a law which makes it possible to prosecute executives for serious financial recklessness.

"Our goal must be to make executives think harder about the consequences of their actions, and change the culture of finance so it is safer for us all."

Genzyme shows true grit for pupils

PUPILS will be able to use their school playgrounds in icy weather thanks to a donation from a local company.

Pupils from Burton End and Westfield Primary schools in Haverhill visited the site in the town of biotech firm Genzyme to receive a donation of grit bins and salt as part of its community relations programme.

The community relations team at Genzyme Haverhill is made up of a group of volunteers who offer support to community projects in areas such as healthcare, science, education and the environment. The team has previously been involved in community projects involving local schools and clubs as well as St Nicholas Hospice.

Team chairman Sara Morrish said: "At Haverhill, we are dedicated to playing an active role in our local community. We believe that the grit bin and salt initiative is a highly practical way to reach out to local schools and contribute to ensuring children can enjoy safe outdoor play as part of their education."

Rosie Campbell, head teacher at Westfield, said: "We are grateful to receive this donation of grit bins and salt from Genzyme as the weather is sure to get worse before it gets better, and they will also complement the new school site that has been built."

Inspector unhappy after 'really bad week' of crime

Insp Ferrie said shift patterns were being changed – officers would make later foot patrols to try to catch criminals in the act.

He said: "We have had a really bad week and it is not something I want to continue. My officers will be out at 4am, walking not riding round the estates and in plain clothes, as that is the only way of catching these people.

"We have seen a sudden spike in crime over the past week and I have not yet got to the bottom of what is causing it. It could be a small group of offenders or just one person who has become active.

"We will be taking direct action to tackle it and information from the public is crucial in helping us to do that.

"People can also help themselves by making their property secure; if all the gates in Haverhill were locked, offenders could probably only commit two offences in a night instead of four."

In some recent incidents, jewellery, an iPod and a digital camera were among the items stolen when a house in Recreation Road, Haverhill, was broken into between 8am and 1.20pm on Monday. A cat flap at the rear of the property was damaged, an untidy search made and items stolen including jewellery in three wooden boxes, keys, an iPod and docking station, a digital camera and documents.

Between 6pm and 6.30pm on Saturday, a Ford Transit van parked in St James Court was broken into and a large quantity power tools stolen. In Chainey Pieces, Haverhill, between noon last Thursday, and 12.30pm on Sunday, a garden shed was broken into and a man's red Voodoo mountain bike stolen.

At about 8pm on Sunday three sheds in a garden in Crowland Road, Haverhill, were entered and power tools moved, before the offenders were disturbed and fled empty-handed.

Anyone with information relating to any of these incidents should contact Haverhill Police on 101.

Insp Ferrie said he was very pleased with overall figures for the past 12 months, compared to an average of the previous three years. Domestic burglaries were down from 79 to 58, sheds etc from 184 to 129, and anti-social behaviour down by almost 300 crimes from 1,809 to 1,523.

Cats in need of foster homes

MORE foster homes for cats and kittens are needed by Haverhill's branch of Cats Protection. The local branch of the oldest charity solely dedicated to cats last year found new homes for 85 cats and kittens. The branch also conducted a successful campaign, neutering nearly 100 male and female cats belonging to members of the public. In order to continue helping cats in the area, more foster people are needed to take care of cats and kitten in their homes while they wait to be re-homed permanently. Cats Protection pays for food, litter, worming and flea treatment as well as veterinary care. To find out more about fostering, call 0845 371 9599, email contactcats@aol.com or visit www.stourvalley.cats.org.uk.

Crew called to laundrette

FIREFIGHTERS were called to a washing machine on fire in Haverhill. Two fire crews from the town were sent to the incident in the Anglia Laundrette in Queen Street, just after 6pm on Friday. The fire had started in an industrial washing machine, but the flames were out upon the crew's arrival. The machine was made safe and the power was isolated by 6.20pm.

Window broken and cash taken

CASH was stolen from a house after a large rear window was smashed by intruders. The break-in happened between 8.10am and 10.50pm last Thursday at a house in Downs Place, Haverhill. Anyone who was in the area between these times, who heard anything unusual or noticed any suspicious activity, should contact Haverhill Police on 101.

Warning over fake PC help

COMPUTER users are being warned to be extra vigilant after some Suffolk residents received telephone calls from people falsely claiming to be Microsoft computer security engineers. Suffolk Trading Standards has issued the warning after reports that cold-callers are telling residents they are at risk of a computer security threat and going on to offer free checks. The victims help the fraudsters gain remote access to their computers, giving them access to personal information including account log-in information and bank details. For further information or to report a call, residents can contact Consumer Direct 08454 04 05 06 or Action Fraud on 0300 123 2040.

High St vision is unveiled

AFTER more than two decades of debate, plans to pedestrianise Haverhill's High Street by the end of the year are being put forward – even though a public inquiry still looks likely.

Suffolk County Council and St Edmundsbury Borough Council have this week launched joint plans to improve the shopping experience in Haverhill High Street, including an end to the conflict between pedestrians and vehicles by banning traffic during the daytime.

It also involves moving the ailing Friday market there, where the Saturday market is already held.

BY JO DEEKS

Email: editorial@haverhillweeklynews.co.uk

The High Street would be closed to traffic, with gates similar to those in Queen Street, from 10am to 4pm on Sunday to Thursday, and on Fridays and Saturdays from 6am to 6pm.

Traffic would no longer be able to enter the High Street or Queen Street past the Merton Slade junction in Swan Lane or past the Bull pub in Camps Road.

The bottom of Swan Lane would become two-way, with traffic lights provided so large vehicles could pass through. A 20mph speed limit would be introduced when the street is open to traffic to create a safe environment for pedestrians.

A new block-paved surface would be put in across the width of the road from the junctions with Swan Lane to the junction with Quakers Lane to create a new civic area with seating, planters and cycle parking and public artwork. A vehicular path would be inferred through the area with different colours in the block-paving. A plaza area would also be created at Jubilee Walk junction, to give this area a similar feel to the area outside the Arts Centre.

Crowland Road would either have restricting parking or become one-way for south-west bound traffic. A dedicated area for blue badge parking would be created in the Brook Car the markets and increase footfall in the town centre.

Changes: plans for the section of High Street from Quakers Lane to Eden Road include more seating, planters and a new plaza area. Below, as it looks now.

"The plans going on show put pedestrians first. I hope that as many people as possible will be able to drop in and talk to us."

Christopher Gurteen, whose factory is in the centre of the town has been one of the main objectors to the scheme and was at the launch of the exhibition. He said: "It all looks wonderful, but it is no different to what has been proposed before and does not overcome our objections. Access is provided, but it is too narrow for our lorries and there is conflict with pedestrians. I think there will still have to be a public inquiry and this all seems a huge waste of money."

The plans and questionnaire will run from January 27 to February 10. Residents and businesses will be able to view the boards in the Arts Centre at Haverhill High Street or at www.suffolk.gov.uk/consultations.

Scheme: plans for the High Street between Swan Lane and Quaker's Lane area include a new surface, planters and public artwork. Right, how the area looks now and below, an elevated impression of the new surface.

Cash boost to beat the chill

£265k to help the vulnerable

GRANTS to help vulnerable people tackle winter temperatures are now available to residents in St Edmundsbury.

St Edmundsbury Borough Council is working with Suffolk County Council and other groups to combat fuel poverty, with a £265,000 grant from the Warm Homes, Healthy People fund.

A special phone line which offers free information, advice and support has been set up.

Also on offer is the installation of free alarms fitted with extreme temperature sensors, along with a befriending service and a free temporary heater loan scheme.

Free emergency boiler repairs for vulnerable households are available through Age UK.

Groups that will benefit will include the over-60s, families on a low incomes, families with children and young people with learning disabilities.

Free insulation and small energy efficiency improvement jobs including draught proofing can be done, as well as free independent energy surveys, with help to install measures to save money and energy.

Road shows will be run by Suffolk ACRE to promote their good neighbour and community

oil-buying schemes

Cllr Sara Mildmay-White, St Edmundsbury Cabinet member for health and wellbeing, said: "We are urging anyone who has a vulnerable relative or neighbour to help them to find out more about what support and assistance might be available to them."

"The coldest months are yet to come and we need to get help in place ahead of the chill. The message is to call 08456 037 686 to stay warm."

There are an estimated 7,000 households in fuel poverty in St Edmundsbury. Cllr Colin Noble, Suffolk County Council's portfolio holder for adult and community services said: "There are still a large number of people who cannot afford to sufficiently heat their homes."

"By working with our partners across the county we have been able to secure funding which will help these members of our communities. It is important that we do as much as we possibly can to ensure that everyone stays warm and well this winter."

Further information is available www.suffolk.gov.uk/warmhomes.

Lunch bell ringing for Army diners

VISITORS to a Salvation Army lunch club enjoy a hearty lunch every Monday – and there is room for others to join them.

The club for senior citizens is held at the Salvation Army hall in Chantry Road, Haverhill, with doors opening for a drop-in session from 9.30am, with coffee and biscuits served, followed by a three-course lunch at noon.

This week 24 lunches were served up by Helen Anderson, who has been cooking for them for the past 20 years, helped by Fiona Fimm, who works for six days a week in a Cambridge hotel, then gives up her one day a week to help in the kitchen.

Major Sidney Pinches of Haverhill Salvation Army said: "If you are cooking for 24, you could just as easily cook for 30-plus."

"We have 30-odd people on our books, but they can't always come every week."

"Some come at 9.30am, drink coffee, read the newspapers and have a chat. Some just come at 11.30am for the lunch. They get a very good, substantial and nutritious three-course lunch for £4."

Anyone interested in joining the club should contact Major Pinches on (01440) 705247.

Warning over holiday scams

PEOPLE booking a sunny holiday to cure their winter blues are being warned to be vigilant about scam operators.

Suffolk Trading Standards has been made aware of several incidents involving county residents being misled by websites associated with booking holidays abroad.

The European Healthcare Insurance Card (EHIC), which provides reduced-cost medical treatment in Europe, is free via the NHS. However, many unscrupulous websites charge unnecessarily for this service and often appear as paid adverts at the top of search engines. These sites will charge an administrative fee to check applications, which can be up to £15 per person.

People purchasing visas to travel outside Europe can also face unnecessary charges.

Cllr Colin Spence, Suffolk County Council's portfolio holder for public protection, said: "We would like to urge people not to get caught out, to do their homework and to check the small print on these websites."

For advice on online scams, contact Consumer Direct at www.direct.gov.uk or phone 08454 040506.

Read them their rights: Insp Peter Ferrie's detective skills led him to the kidnap culprits at Burton End Primary School.

Picture: Keith Jones 797970.

Santa kidnap mystery finally solved

RENEGADE reindeer felt the long arm of the law after being involved in a plot to kidnap Santa Claus.

Insp Peter Ferrie, Haverhill sector commander, leapt into action at Burton End Primary School on Tuesday to arrest the culprits, who had been at large since before Christmas.

Insp Ferrie swooped following two showings of film A Christmas Catastrophe, a short film based around the theme of Santa being kidnapped.

Castle Manor Business and Enterprise College, Place Farm, Burton End, St Felix and Clements Primary Schools were involved with the film and each had made different scenes relating to Christmas being in danger because of Santa's absence.

Audiences were invited to submit votes in a whodunnit as to who was responsible for kidnapping Santa.

The film also explored Christmas family traditions and the Christian meaning of Christmas.

Pupils and students between the ages of 5 and 19 and their teachers had been involved in writing the script, acting, filming and editing.

The culprits were revealed after voting slips by audience members leaving the screenings were counted up. Suspects included the reindeer, who were annoyed that Santa received beer and mince pies while they got only carrots, and the elves, who were protesting about their long hours and poor pay.

Members of the community, including Haverhill mayor Cllr Maureen Byrne, Insp Ferrie and the Reverend Canon Ian Finn, of St Mary's Church, also featured in the film, which was screened twice at Haverhill Arts Centre.

Nick Keeble and Gary Leech from the arts centre were also involved in the production of the film, supporting the school with equipment, technical and creative support.

Woman, 19, told police officer: 'I'll bottle you'

A WOMAN who threatened to 'bottle' a police officer has been banned from all pubs and clubs in her home town for six months and ordered to do unpaid community work.

Helen Mason, 19, of Snowdon Court, Haverhill, admitted three charges relating to the incident in Haverhill High Street on Boxing Day.

Her solicitor said Mason was so drunk she could not remember much about it.

District Judge David Cooper described her behaviour as 'outrageous' when she appeared before him at Bury St Edmunds Magistrates' Court on Tuesday.

He said: "Your behaviour was disgraceful, going out with a bottle and telling the officer 'I am going to bottle you'.

"I am making you subject to a court order and if you don't obey

BY JO DEEKS

Email: editorial@haverhillweeklynews.co.uk

it, you will be brought back before me, I will lose my temper and you will go to prison."

Ros Keppleman, prosecuting, said a male friend of Mason's had put his arm through a window and cut it.

As she tried to help him, police officers asked her to step back. She started to swear at them, and then began to move her arm towards a bottle they could see in her pocket.

She threatened to 'bottle' one of the officers and resisted when they arrested her.

Mason told police the offence had only happened because she had consumed a few drinks and she was trying to protect her friend.

Paul Cammiss, representing Mason, said she had pleaded guilty, but could not remember a lot about the incident.

Marie Bluett, of the probation service, produced a report before Mason was sentenced and said she had previously committed public order and anger management offences.

Mrs Bluett said: "She says she will try to keep her temper in the future. She feels the police tend to target her and I feel she is a medium risk of re-offending. Unpaid work would act as a punishment for her."

Mason admitted charges of using threatening behaviour towards PC Stuart Cirket, possessing an offensive weapon and obstructing PC Cirket in the execution of his duty.

Judge Cooper made Mason subject of a 12-month community order, including 80 hours of unpaid work, and made an order excluding her from all pubs and clubs in Haverhill for six months.

Haverhill and District Local History Group

CHRISTMAS started early for the Haverhill and District Local History Group as we braved the cold to man our stall on the late-night Christmas shopping event, selling our books, DVDs and other products to the crowds thronging the streets. Thankfully, we were back indoors, with the added bonus of mince pies and other nibbles, for our Christmas meeting, where Andrew Jackson's beautifully illustrated talk on Surprising Suffolk certainly lived up to its title, and showed his enthralled audience that they still have much to learn about local history.

Why not join us on our next meeting which, because no one really wants to venture out on these cold winter evenings, will start at 2pm instead of the usual 7.30pm on Wednesday, January 25, in the Arts Centre Studio. We are delighted to welcome Brian Coley, one of an elite team of registered blue badge guides, who promises us an armchair tour of Bury St Edmunds. Admission is free to members, £2 for visitors, and refreshments are available.

And, while you're there, enjoy our latest exhibition, displayed around the History Centre and in the Bistro, showing sporting moments from the many and varied sports groups and teams that have thrived in Haverhill over the years. A timely reminder of the importance of such organisations in promoting the skills and spirit embodied in the Olympic Games.

Kedington Garden Society

KEDINGTON Garden Society began the new year with another successful fundraising quiz.

Thanks went to David and Barbara for their hard work and providing us with a very enjoyable evening.

The next Kedington Garden Society meeting will take place on Tuesday February 7, in The Royal British Legion Hall, Kedington, at 7.30pm, when our speaker will be Andrew Babicz talking about The Royal Botanic Garden Edinburgh.

Visitors are always welcome (£1.50 per meeting).

Cancer Research UK

KIND-HEARTED staff and customers of a clothes shop have helped the company to raise an astonishing £850,000 for Cancer Research UK.

Staff members at M&Co, one of the UK's largest independent fashion retailers, have been working tirelessly to raise money for the cancer charity since 2008. The store in High Street, Haverhill, has raised a fantastic £1,002 since M&Co began its support of the charity.

A variety of fundraising activities took place and included the retailer becoming a donation station for the month of October in 2011. This saw customers donating quality unwanted clothes in M&Co stores for Cancer Research UK

Other fundraising included 222 M&Co staff taking part in the Cancer Research UK Race for Life, fashion shows run by stores, staff raffles, sponsored walks and skydives.

Andy McGeoch, Director of Marketing and Business Development at M&Co, said: "It is really fantastic that everyone has worked together to raise so much for Cancer Research UK. We have given ourselves a target of raising a total of £1m for Cancer Research UK before July 2012 and we will strive to achieve this."

"Employees throughout the company, both in our stores and head office, have championed our fundraising and made a real difference to the amount we raised. I'd also like to thank our customers in the local community for getting involved and helping us in our efforts."

Claire Rowney, head of corporate partnerships at Cancer Research UK, said: "We're really grateful for the generosity and hard work of M&Co's staff and customers. The £850,000 raised will help pay for the world-class scientists, doctors and nurses at the centre of our life-saving research. Together with partners like M&Co and our supporters, our vision is to continue to save lives and beat cancer."

Cancer Research UK is the world's leading charity dedicated to beating cancer through research. Its groundbreaking work in finding new ways to prevent, diagnose and treat cancer has saved millions of lives.

St Nicholas Hospice Care

FOOTBALL fans can bid for a VIP match trip and help their local hospice at the same time.

St Nicholas Hospice Care is one of three hospices set to be boosted by a partnership with Ipswich Town Football Club. The club is offering a VIP match-day auction and text-to-donate campaign as part of the its support for the Football League's official charity for 2011/12, Help the Hospices. All the proceeds will be split between St Nicholas Hospice Care, East Anglia's Children's Hospices (EACH) and St Elizabeth Hospice.

The club has donated four pairs of tickets for a money-can't-buy VIP day out – including meeting two Town legends – at the home game against Bristol City on Saturday, March 3, which will be auctioned to the highest email bidders.

The campaign was officially launched on the pitch at Portman Road before the Blackpool home game by two ITFC players, club mascot Bluey and a doctor and nurses from the hospices.

The VIP day up for auction includes: meeting club legends Simon Milton and Bryan Hamilton, a pair of tickets to the Bristol City home game in one of the club's corporate boxes, including a champagne reception, a three-course meal in the club restaurant, a pitch-side photo and a pre-match tour with Simon Milton.

Bids for a pair of VIP tickets should be made by email to VIPday@stnh.org.uk by midnight on Sunday, February 19. You must be 16 or over to bid but there is no age restriction on attending the VIP day. For terms and conditions see www.itfc.co.uk under 'charity partners'.

A spokesman for all three Suffolk hospices said: "Hospice care is free for everyone who needs it but is not free to provide. We are grateful for the chance ITFC has given us to highlight the services we offer to the local community and how much we rely on support and fundraising to provide them."

Fans are also urged to show their support for the hospices by text donating £5. Fans can simply text ITFC99 £5 to 70070 throughout the season or donate online at www.justgiving.com/VIPday.

Stolen shotgun appeal

POLICE have launched an appeal after a shotgun was stolen from a barn.

The theft happened from a barn in Wickhambrook between 10pm on Monday, January 9 and 7.30am the following morning. The building was entered and a trailer was also stolen.

It was later abandoned at Skelton's Drove outside Mildenhall on Tuesday morning.

The shotgun is an AYA 12 bore side by side, serial number 547347.

Police are asking anyone who finds the weapon to contact them immediately to allow for a proper disposal.

Anyone with information that could help the investigation should contact PC Amos Owen at Haverhill police station on 101 or call Crime-stoppers anonymously on 0800 555111.

Council bids to run Place Court

TOWN councillors have expressed an interest in running a care home in a bid to avoid it being taken over by a private company.

A 4,000-signature petition was sent to Suffolk County Council last year, opposing plans to close or sell off Place Court residential home for the elderly in Camps Road, Haverhill.

At Haverhill Town Council's recent meeting, members agreed to register an interest with Suffolk County in running the home, possibly under the terms of the new Localism Act, which encourages transferring control over services to the most local level.

Town clerk Will Austin said councillors were concerned that if the home was sold as part of a package with 16 others run by Suffolk County Council to one of three private bidders interested, the high standard of care provided would be compromised.

Mr Austin said although the Localism Act was already in force, regulations of how it would work had not yet been provided. He said: "The town council is hopeful that in the spirit of the legislation the county council will respond to our expression of interest and consider it along with potential buyers."

An invitation for Suffolk County Council to send a representative to the meeting to discuss Place Court was declined. Cllr Colin Noble, Suffolk County Council's portfolio holder for adult and care services, wrote to the council saying that he believed a move to one of the three bidders, who all wanted to build a new home on the Place Court site, would be best for the home.

Town mayor Maureen Byrne and fellow councillors agreed to continue to fight against plans to sell off the home. It was agreed to invite Deborah Cadman, new chief executive officer for Suffolk County Council, to come to Haverhill to discuss the issue and Cllr Byrne said she would lead a deputation to Ipswich to fight the plan.

Police facing a tax rise or cuts

SUFFOLK Police Authority is to decide whether to raise council tax or face a cut in officer numbers – while the county council is set to consider proposals on how to save £26m in the next financial year.

Members of the Police Authority are to choose between keeping the amount of council tax given to police at last year's levels and accepting a one-off £1.25m Government grant, or increasing its component of the council tax by 3.75 per cent to generate £1.55m.

Acceptance of the Government grant would mean the police receive at least £1.6m less per year thereafter with the consequence that police numbers, which started 2011/12 at 1,217, would drop below 1,200.

Chief Constable Simon Ash of

BY JENNIE BAKER

Email: editorial@haverhillweeklynews.co.uk

Suffolk Police will tell members he would have concerns if numbers were to fall below 1,200.

Numbers would stay above this threshold if council tax levels are raised.

Joanna Spicer, chairman of the Police Authority, said decisions would not be taken before all financial scenarios had been examined.

She said: "We recognise that these are difficult times for everyone and want to do everything we can to keep costs down for council tax payers across the county.

"However, our role as an authority is to secure an efficient and effective policing service for Suffolk, which already has one of the lowest cost forces in the country.

"We need to get this balance right."

The authority will discuss the two options and the entire policing budget tomorrow before making decisions on Monday.

Meanwhile, Suffolk County Council's cabinet is set to meet on Tuesday to discuss budget-saving proposals which, if approved, will be decided by the full council in February.

The measures would see the authority's share of council tax remain the same but it would look to save £8m from its adult social care budget by putting more money into helping the vulnerable earlier to prevent people needing costlier support later.

Other savings would include £12m gained through removing processes and introducing efficiency savings, and an additional £1.5m would be shaved off management costs.

Students flocking to college

INQUIRIES about courses at Suffolk College have more than doubled compared to last year.

Open events at the college in Bury St Edmunds have led to an increase in full-time applications for courses starting in September.

There are also a number of courses starting this month and next.

Visitors who attended these events were able to take part in taster sessions, listen to talks on apprenticeships or have a guided tour round the college campus.

Some 67 per cent of potential students who came to the open event applied on the day.

The next Open Event at West Suffolk College will be the apprenticeship open event on Wednesday, February 8 from 6.30pm-8.30pm.

General college open events are scheduled for Wednesday March 7 from 6.30pm-8.30pm and Saturday March 10 from 9.30am-noon.

For more information about events and courses at West Suffolk College, visit www.westsuffolk.ac.uk or call the college information centre on (01284) 716333.

Fun day planned to boost Aiden's fund

EFFORTS to raise the cash needed to send a two-year-old boy to the USA for the treatment he needs are approaching half the £60,000 target, with a fun day planned to further boost the fund.

Aiden Thomas has cerebral palsy, diagnosed in March last year, after he was born 10 weeks early on 1 January 2010, along with twin brother Owen. He also has bilateral spastic hemiplegia, which means he has stiffness in his right arm and leg and to a lesser extent in his left leg.

His mum Victoria Thompson gives Aiden daily physio to retain his limited range of movement, but he needs further treatment to give him the best chance of leading a full life and keeping up with his twin brother.

Pink Sky Events of Haverhill are organising a fundraising day for the charity. Partners in Pink Sky Events, Sarah Egan and Tracy Connolly, said: "With the deadline looming fast, we want to take away some of the pressure by organising this event, free of charge, to help to give the fund a big boost."

The charity fun day will be held on Saturday, March 17 from 10am-4pm at Haverhill Arts Centre. They plan to provide entertainers, face-painting and kids' tattoos, along with stalls selling goodies for adults and children.

The day will finish on a high with a performance by Haverhill singer Jade Donno.

The organisers would like donated raffle prizes and gifts, vouchers and event tickets to use for a silent auction. Anyone who can help should e-mail info@pinksyevents.co.uk.

To help the fund, visit: www.justgiving.com/aidensfootsteps or donate to Aiden's Footsteps Fund by texting DAFF78 and the amount to 70070.

Owners urged to secure vehicles

BY JO DEEKS

Email: editorial@haverhillweeklynews.co.uk

A SPATE of thefts from vehicles has sparked a fresh alert from police.

Police officers in Haverhill are reminding people to 'lock it or lose it' after it was revealed many of the vehicles targeted had been left insecure.

Three vehicles were broken into overnight between Saturday, January 7 and Sunday, January 8 in Horsham Close, Abercorn Court and Bute Court.

A further five vehicles were targeted overnight between Monday, January 9 and Tuesday, January 10, in Pinhoe Drive, Betony Walk, Mallow Walk and Harewood Terrace, Haverhill, as well as one at Westward Deals, Kedington.

PC Michael Potter of the Haverhill Safer Neighbourhood team (SNT) said: "It's vitally important not to make life easy for opportunist criminals.

"You should always make sure that doors are locked and that valuables are removed from your vehicle rather than hidden – you can even leave your glovebox open to show that it is empty. Wiping away any suction marks on your window left from a sat-nav makes your car or van less appealing and trying to park in well-lit areas can deter would-be criminals from targeting your vehicle in the first place.

"It's always best to use a garage if you have one, or have the opportunity to.

"By taking these simple steps, you can deter thieves and make your car far less vulnerable to break-ins. It's easy to do but it's still concerning how many people fail to take crime-prevention measures."

In response to these incidents, police will be conducting both high-visibility and covert patrols to deter and target offenders.

If you see anyone acting suspiciously around parked vehicles call the police immediately on 999, giving as a full as description as possible.

For further crime prevention advice, visit www.suffolk.police.uk or contact your Safer Neighbourhood Team on 101.

Husband sets himself Peru challenge in wife's memory

In loving memory: Graham holds the order of service from Carole's funeral during his trek through the Peruvian mountains.

BY LOUISE MARTIN

Email: weeklies@cambridge-news.co.uk

STANDING at 15,500 feet, gazing out at the epic Peruvian landscape, Graham Rouse felt an overwhelming sense of achievement.

After five days of trekking through the untouched Lares region of Peru last November, the 65-year-old had battled tough terrain and dangerous altitude to make it to Machu Picchu.

"I have to admit it was very hard," smiles Graham. "The days were warm but the nights were just so incredibly cold; I doubt whether I had 20 hours sleep in 10 days. I was knackered by the time I got home and it's taken me a bit of time to get over it, but I did it for a real reason."

Graham completed the massive challenge in memory of his beloved wife Carole, who passed away in February last year after an 18-month battle with cancer, aged just 48.

Both animal lovers – Graham, a business consultant, shares his Needingworth home with the couple's rescue

When Graham Rouse's beloved wife Carole died from cancer at just 48, it felt like history repeating itself: he had lost his first wife, Gloria, to cancer at the same age. But with Carole's words – 'don't sit and mope, you've got to get on with life' – ringing in his ears, Graham embarked on a gruelling fundraising challenge in her memory . . .

dogs Jazz, Ace and Theo – his accomplishment has so far raised more than £6,600 for the Wood Green animal charity at Godmanchester.

In September 2009, Carole found a lump in the right hand side of her face. A biopsy confirmed she had salivary duct cancer – a rare form of cancer – and, just a week before Christmas, she underwent major surgery to remove the tumour from her right parotid gland.

"It was a very aggressive strain and one that wouldn't respond to chemotherapy," says Graham. "That was told to us from the start."

Both keen travellers – the couple actually met on holiday and lived in Cyprus for four-and-a-half years following their wedding in 1995 – Graham decided to take his wife on a cruise around the Arabian Peninsula to help her recovery, before beginning a six-week course of radiotherapy. But just before her treatment was due to begin Carole, who worked for the NHS in Cambridge, found a further two lumps in succession in the same area, and required two more operations to remove them.

"The operations left her a bit low and tearful and it did knock her for six, but the radio treatment was even worse," remembers Graham. "That was every day for six weeks and it really dragged her down because she could hardly eat; as she put it she found herself on an involuntary diet, but she was a fighter and stood the course and she went through it."

Following the gruelling treatment, the couple headed to Austria for a week of recuperation. But while sitting in the hotel gardens, Carole discovered yet another lump, this time on the opposite side of her face. "The only way that the cancer could go from one side to the other was through the body, following the lymph glands," says Graham. "So they did a whole body scan and found hot spots in her liver, abdomen and upper chest cage. We were told at the end of 2010 that the cancer was terminal. And that's when our world fell apart."

"I'll always remember coming back home after that. I was sitting here moaning about our world being shattered but Carole, being Carole, just said: 'There's no point moaning about it, we've got to get on doing things.' So basically I was the one thinking 'poor soul' and she was saying: 'Come on, we need to plan what we're going to do.'"

With doctors estimating Carole had just 12 months left to live, the couple started planning a wish list of what they wanted to do before she got too poorly. Holidays to St Lucia, Kenya and a cruise to the Norwegian fjords were booked alongside Take That tickets and a trip on the London Eye followed by tea at the Ritz.

Describing his wife as a "fighter" and a "completer finisher", Graham smiles when he explains that, despite becoming quite weak as her illness progressed, his wife continued to work until just a few days before she died on February 18 last year, just four-and-a-half months after being told her cancer was terminal.

"We did a few of the things we planned but we didn't complete them all," says Graham. "The day before she died she wanted to see the doctor and she went in very weak – she insisted on walking – and actually sat there and asked for a return to work form. That was her way of dealing with it, Carole just carried on."

Tragically, Carole is the second wife Graham has lost to cancer. His first wife, Gloria, died from ovarian cancer, also at the age of 48, when their son Ashley was 14.

"It's very spooky and it's very tough to take," says Graham. "I never thought marrying someone 16 years my younger that I would be the survivor. One thing I fear is being here on my own in my last days. It was going to be reverse roles because presumably Carole would outlive me because of her age, but not so."

With the help of Graham, Carole had planned her own funeral – a civil service, including one of her favourite songs Don't Worry, Be Happy – and, known for her huge love for life, had made Graham promise to continue to live his life to the full, after she had gone.

"Two weeks before she died we went to St Lucia and we went on one of the little cruises," remembers Graham. "She started getting a bit emotional and I asked what was wrong and she said: 'This could be my last time on a boat.' We got back to the place we were staying and she said: 'Right, I need to have a word, now we need to think about you. You have to promise me that you won't sit around and mope, you've had it before, you've got to get on with life.'"

With support from his family and friends and some counselling from Wallace Cancer Care, which was another charity close to Carole's heart, Graham has been able to look to the future once more.

"When you lose a partner there's a loss of confidence and a loss of security, and you suddenly find yourself in the world on your own and you've got to get going again somehow. I've felt angry, annoyed, and much stronger words than that and there have been moments when I've been full of emotion and you think: 'Is it worth going on?', but I've got through that now."

A regular donator to Wood Green, it was in a monthly newsletter from the charity that Graham found details about the trek through Peru, and immediately got in touch. "I signed up for it quite soon after Carole died as a focus and something to work towards," says Graham. "It got me through a lot of last year."

With the trip scheduled for November, Graham, who keeps fit by walking his three lively dogs, trained for his adventure by completing some challenging walks in Croatia and Austria as well as the Lake District and the Peak District.

After five days of trekking through the remote region, Graham was one of 18 to arrive at the lost city of Machu Picchu, which, he says, was a very emotional experience.

"I know she would have been very proud of me," he smiles. "It was very emotional when we got to the top, not just me, lots of people, just because we had achieved so much."

"It had been a struggle and I would never attempt it again, not at my age, but I did it because of Carole, I did it because I wanted to support the charity and I did it because it was a positive focus for me, which is what she wanted."

Give blood and save lives, urges Pamela

A DONOR is urging everyone to give blood after a transfusion saved her life more than 35 years ago.

Pamela Phipps, 65, of Linton, had complications during her pregnancy which left her fighting for her life – a transfusion of 11 pints of blood helped to save her.

But when she regained consciousness, she was given the devastating news that she and her husband had lost the son they had longed for, whom they named Robin.

Following the ordeal in 1976, Pamela continued to give blood and believes everyone able to should do the same.

The occupational health consultant said: "If it hadn't been for the generosity and selfless act of blood donors, I would not have lived."

"I urge everyone to donate if they can; each whole blood donation can help three people."

BY RACHEL ALLEN

Email: editorial@haverhillweeklynews.co.uk

"I believe it is the most altruistic act that humans can do for one another."

Georgina Norris is the local donor relations co-ordinator at NHS Blood and Transplant for the Cambridge, Suffolk and Norfolk area.

She said: "Pamela's story clearly shows why blood donors are so important. Dedicated donors really do keep our organisation going, but we need more lifesaving donors in this area."

Regular donor sessions take place at Haverhill Arts Centre. The next one is scheduled for Tuesday, February 7. The next session in Linton is planned for Wednesday, April 4.

Georgina said: "There is still lots of availability so please phone 0300 123 23 23 and make it your new year's resolution to make an appointment."

For more information, visit www.blood.co.uk.

From the brink: Pamela Phipps needed 11 pints of blood to save her life.

Sign up now for a health kick

PATIENTS in Suffolk are being invited to sign up now for a free course that will help them better manage their long-term health conditions.

The Chronic Disease Self-Management courses are taking place in locations across the county and are aimed at people with long-term conditions such as diabetes, heart disease and asthma. Sessions will be for two-and-a-half hours, for six weeks, beginning in February 2012.

Courses are taking place in Haverhill from February 9 to March 15, every Thursday; in Newmarket from February 10 to March 16, every Friday; in Mildenhall from February 21 to March 27, every Tuesday and in Bury St Edmunds from February 1 to March 7, every Wednesday.

Olive Quinton, NHS Suffolk's health improvement facilitator said: "Each course is delivered by a trained tutor; people who themselves have a long-term condition."

"The course will help participants reduce feelings of isolation and depression, encourage living a healthier lifestyle, improve relationships with family, friends and medical staff and feel more in control."

Anyone interested in joining a course should phone 0800 988 5550.

Volunteers: Cheryl and Peter Owen help at St Nicholas Hospice. CP

Hospice couple are happy to help out

VOLUNTEERING makes you happy – it's official.

Research shows that volunteering can improve your health and life satisfaction, so St Nicholas Hospice Care is calling for more helpers.

One couple from Kedington are proof of the benefits of volunteering and putting skills to good use. Peter and Cheryl Owen both have roles at the Bury St Edmunds hospice.

Cheryl volunteers with the art workshops in Orchard Day Therapy, for the family support team and bereavement groups. She said: "I have been volunteering for St Nicholas Hospice Care for five years. I got involved for a combination of reasons, partly because I wanted to do something worthwhile in the community and also I had friends who had done similar things at another hospice."

"I enjoy volunteering enormously – that's why I do so much of it. You can feel the difference your work makes to the people you are working with, so you can't help but feel happy."

Peter has volunteered for the hospice for three years and works in Orchard Day Therapy, on Sylvan Ward and with the family support team.

He said: "It is fun and definitely makes you happy. You feel you're giving something back, while the excellent training helps you to feel totally safe and supported."

Volunteers can give as much or as little time as they like. There are vacancies across the board, but at the moment the hospice is in great need of van drivers and drivers' assistants, retail assistants at all the hospice shops and the retail centre, on the Moreton Hall estate and people who can help at fundraising events, raise awareness and come up with creative ways of fundraising.

The hospice also needs help with creative pursuits, counselling, complementary and beauty therapies, administration, marketing and counselling, to name just a few.

Park scheme to mark the jubilee

PLANS have been unveiled to create a new park and allotments on a former school site to mark the Queen's Diamond Jubilee.

The two-and-a-half-acre site of the former Clements Primary School in Gloucester Road, Haverhill, would be called Jubilee Park and would include a children's play area surrounded by parkland, with a network of footpaths to surrounding areas.

It would be surrounded by 6ft mesh fencing and gates to be locked and unlocked by a group of local volunteers.

A number of allotment plots would also be provided, aimed to reduce the current waiting list of 70 people wanting them in Haverhill.

St Edmundsbury Borough Council agreed to develop the former school site as a public open space to fulfil a condition imposed on Suffolk County Council when it applied for permission to build the new Clements Primary School on a section of the nearby Puddlebrook Playing Fields.

The old school buildings have recently been demolished and all that now remains on site is a car park, a hard-surfaced former playground area, the boundary fencing and a number of mature trees which skirt the boundary.

Council officers carried out public consultations to find out what local residents would like to see developed on the site. They said they wanted a parkland area with a children's play area and an allotment/community garden area, within which would be a single communal building to provide toilets, meeting and storage facilities.

Damien Parks, St Edmundsbury parks manager, said the council had inherited the site to replace the open space at Puddlebrook where the new school was built.

About £100,000 has been received from Suffolk County Council as part of a compensation package would be used to create the new park.

He said: "If we get consent we will be hoping to get something open by June, to coincide with the Diamond Jubilee of the Queen's reign."

"It is very dense housing up there and we carried out consultation with local people to see what they wanted."

"There is a small group of people who wanted to be kept informed and we will be working with them to develop the park."

HAILED as “an original and innovative force in modern dance”, BalletBoyz represents a new generation of dynamic dancers who blend elegance and grace with power and strength.

BalletBoyz was founded in 2000 by former Royal Ballet dancers Michael Nunn and Cambridge-born William Trevitt. Their 2004 production, Broken

Fall, earned them a Laurence Olivier Award for Best New Dance Production. Their latest offering, The Talent – at Cambridge Arts Theatre at the weekend – has been hailed as “dance at its most riveting and fearless” by The Independent on Sunday, and received a four-star review in The Daily Telegraph.

The programme includes Russell Maliphant’s Torsion, Paul Roberts’ haunting Alpha and the critically acclaimed Void, by Czech choreographer Jarek Cemerek.

For some of the dancers – handpicked by Trevitt and Nunn at open auditions – The Talent will be their first professional performance, and for audiences it represents a new kind of dance, with backstage video clips breaking down barriers in favour of a more inclusive feel.

BalletBoyz were the subject of a popular Channel 4 documentary series and a follow-up film about the making of The Talent was broadcast on More4 on Christmas Day.

Filmed over two years, BalletBoyz: Next Generation explored what it takes to turn eight individuals into one formidable company, following the process from first auditions, through bootcamp training and creating work – right up to the company’s recent performance in Addis Ababa, Ethiopia.

Altitude sickness, broken bones, rolling power cuts and a punishing schedule were just some of the hurdles faced to bring the BalletBoyz magic to Africa and stage a performance in Addis Ababa’s prestigious City Hall. The film is available to watch for the next 12 days at

news from

CENTRE Stage Company fans will be glad Mother Goose is finally here, with performances on Saturday, Sunday, Thursday, January 26 and Saturday, January 28. Follow the dame, Mother Goose, struggling to make ends meet on her farm, along with the evil demon king, a kind fairy queen, a squire and his handsome son – not forgetting the help and hindrance of the other characters and the usual gags, giggles and audience participation.

We have Romantics Anonymous (12A) showing on Monday January, 23 at 7.45pm. With his beloved chocolate business turning sour, socially awkward boss Jean-René decides to enlist an extra pair of hands. Enter Angélique, a chronically shy young woman who shares Jean-René's passion for all things chocolate.

As the pair become more and more acquainted it is not long before chocolate is not the only sensual element in the air. French with English subtitles.

Dates for the diary include Way Out West on Saturday, February 18 at 7.30pm, a thought-provoking play about two men who come to believe they are the reincarnation of Laurel and Hardy. Haverhill Silver Band with guests Tube on Sunday at 7.30pm providing a contemporary take on brass music, and tributes to two iconic 90s bands, Total Stone Roses and Oasis on Friday, February 24 at 8.30pm.

All hail to the king

FOLLOWING the success of last year's acclaimed The Taming of the Shrew, the European Theatre Group returns to Cambridge this month with another Shakespearean production, King Lear.

Over the past 50 years, ETG has developed a reputation at home and abroad for producing innovative, experimental and professional interpretations of classic texts, attracting the most talented actors, technicians and creatives from within the university.

King Lear promises to be one of the major highlights of the ADC's spring season and one of ETG's most ambitious projects yet.

Set in an alternative 21st-century

Britain, this new production sheds new light on Shakespeare's familiar tale of madness, deception and old age.

Widely heralded as Shakespeare's most poignant tragedy, King Lear charts the eponymous monarch's descent into madness.

Ousted from the court by his elder daughters and forced into exile, Lear wanders the heath accompanied by a fool, a vagabond and a madman. As the fabric of society is torn apart by bitter rivalries and deception, the kingdom is left in tatters.

■ King Lear, ADC Theatre, until January 21, 7.45pm. Tickets are from £8 (£6 2.30pm Saturday matinee). Contact (01223) 300085 / www.adctheatre.com

Hitchhiker's to return

The Hitchhiker's Guide to the Galaxy is thumbing a lift back to Cambridge this summer.

Douglas Adams's sci-fi comedy classic is returning to its creator's home city, reuniting the original cast in a "live radio" format.

The legendary radio and TV cast, led by Simon Jones as Arthur Dent, will perform highlights from the entire Hitchhiker's saga.

They will be joined on stage by a series of VIP Guest Voices Of The Book and supporting actors from Hitchhiker's in all its phases.

The show is at the Corn Exchange on July 16 and 17. Contact (01223) 357851 / www.comex.co.uk.

■ McFly, below, have joined the line-up for this year's summer concerts at Newmarket Racecourses. The band – enjoying a new surge of popularity following Harry Judd and Dougie Poynter's victories on Strictly Come Dancing and I'm A Celebrity – will play the racecourses on June 9. Tickets range from £15–29, available from 0844 579 3010 / www.newmarketracecourses.co.uk.

The big film

J EDGAR

Certificate 15, 136m

DURING a turbulent and contentious term in power spanning almost 50 years, J Edgar Hoover was instrumental in the fight against mounting criminality on the streets of America.

In 1924 he was appointed director of the Bureau of Investigation – later to become the FBI – and he threw his weight behind the latest developments in forensic science. His achievements were considerable but his methods were heavily criticised, including supposed heavy-handed treatment of suspects and secret dossiers on important figures which could be used to strengthen his position on Capitol Hill. As Hoover, played with scenery-chewing gusto by Leonardo DiCaprio in Clint Eastwood's handsomely crafted and slow-burning biopic, tells a close ally, "No-one freely shares power in Washington." Eastwood crafts a meticulous and elegiac portrait of a man whose professional travails were almost as fascinating as the swirl of rumours surrounding his close relationship with FBI assistant director Clyde Tolson. Following Hoover's death, Tolson accepted the flag draped over his mentor's coffin and inherited J Edgar's estate. They are buried close to each other in the Congressional Cemetery. Screenwriter Dustin Lance Black, who won an Oscar for Milk, underpins his history lesson with a tender and chaste romance between the two men. The film opens with Hoover (DiCaprio) clinging to power, assisted as ever by loyal secretary Helen Gandy (Naomi Watts). He begins to dictate his memoirs to Agent Smith (Ed Westwick) and drifts back in time in hazy reminiscences to the 1919 bombings which sent shockwaves through Washington DC. With Clyde (Armie Hammer) by his side, Hoover becomes embroiled in the ill-fated search for the missing infant son of aviator Charles Lindbergh (Josh Lucas) and clashes with Robert F Kennedy (Jeffrey Donovan). Away from the corridors of power, Hoover strives tirelessly to impress his domineering mother, Anna Marie (Dame Judi Dench), who instructs him to hold firm when others doubt him.

If your New Year resolutions to lose weight and take up exercise are proving hard to sustain, a few hours a week in the garden will not only give you a head start to spring but may help as part of a fitness programme too.

Raking leaves, digging, weeding and moving shrubs can all be done at this time of year and will help you tone up.

Raking and forking helps strengthen arms and shoulders and tones the abdominal muscles, while digging and bending (from the knees, keeping the back straight) to move or lift plants or pots can help tone thighs and buttocks.

"The thing to keep in mind is always to try to do things to your maximum range of movements," says Colin Holding, head coach of Wildfitness (www.wildfitness.com), a company which runs transformative fitness holidays. He says sitting down is the worst position for the human body, adversely affecting posture and the digestive system and that our natural sitting position is, in fact, a full squat.

Weeding beds and borders gives the legs, hips and buttocks a good workout if you squat while you weed. Heavier work such as clearing brush and stacking wood can give you the equivalent workout to a light aerobics class.

"Get down as low as you can so that your bottom is as close to your heels as it can be. From that position you can do gardening rather than getting down on your knees," he advises.

Digging for fitness

"When you stand up you will be using your joints to their maximum range of movements."

From a squat position you can weed or plant and each time you move along a border you stand up and then squat again.

"With deep squats, you use the biggest muscles in your body – leg, thigh and hip muscles – and will aid lymphatic drainage, pumping out toxins as you completely rely on muscular movement for this."

He also recommends just 'hanging'. In-between other tasks, take time to find a high branch of a tree and just hang from it to take your body weight.

"It's great for posture and is good for shoulder strength."

Balancing on one foot while gardening, whether you are trimming a hedge or sowing seeds in the greenhouse, also promotes strength and confidence and keeps the nervous system in good condition, he says.

Set yourself a 30-second time limit to start and, as you progress, increase that and maybe even close your eyes, which makes balancing harder, he suggests.

Gardening can help the cardiovascular system, reduces the risk of high blood pressure, heart disease, diabetes, obesity and other medical conditions as well as burning calories, according to US research.

Half an hour digging can use up 250 calories, weeding will burn 105 calories, raking 100 calories and mowing the lawn 195, so those garden chores you've been putting off may help you squeeze into those jeans which have been on the tight side since Christmas.

"Changing the type of garden tools you use can also influence the number of calories burned and will also have cardiovascular benefits," says award-winning garden designer David Domoney, who offers tips on how to get fit gardening on his website www.daviddomoney.com.

"For example, use a rake instead of a leaf blower, take extra long strides while raking or use short, quick motions, and keep the rake close to your body, switching sides every two to three minutes."

Go for a push mower if you want a more strenuous workout, rather than a power mower which will make the job easier.

Gardening will not only help you physically, but psychologically too. Working in the fresh air and being among trees and plants reduces stress and relieves muscle tension, studies have shown.

Remember your limitations, though. Many gardeners worry that too much lifting in the garden will damage their backs. Obviously, if you are attempting to move a really heavy object, ask for help.

"You need to keep an S-shaped spine position when lifting, sweeping or raking, changing sides regularly. Stand with your back against a wall, with your head, shoulder blades, heels and the base of your back (coccyx) also touching the wall. That will give you an idea of the S-spine position."

"Keep your shoulders back and look at the horizon, not downwards, when you squat, to hold the position," says Domoney.

Work at a steady, constant speed to keep heart rate up at a set level and don't do too much of one thing – three hours of digging is likely to result in a lot of aches and pains.

PUT YOUR BACK INTO IT: Digging and raking can help New Year fitness resolutions come true.

Bright advice on hand for mortgage seekers

ESTATE agent Morris Armitage has brought the successful Mortgage Clinic to Haverhill.

This format has been used by Bright Advice to help people find the right mortgage to suit their circumstances.

They offer a free 45-minute interview, after which they give a written assessment of how much potential homebuyers can borrow.

Bright Advice spokesman Dave Freeman says: "The days of walking into a lender and expecting them to lend you three or four times your salary are gone.

"All lenders use an affordability calculation and these differ between lenders.

"We offer a service where homebuyers don't have to visit many different lenders, which will in turn affect their credit score and ultimately mean they get a lower mortgage.

"We will take their information and, with our knowledge and expertise, find them a mortgage which is both achievable and affordable."

The first mortgage clinics will be held at Morris Armitage offices on Thursday, January 26 and Saturday January 28.

Appointments are essential – book by calling (01440) 768668.

YOUR GUIDE TO MOVING HOME

1 Moving home can be a complicated business and, in the hectic run to the big day, it is all too easy to forget something vital. The Property News offers their readers this handy checklist that should help avoid major pitfalls. We suggest you tick off the items as you deal with them...

WITH FOUR WEEKS TO GO:

- ☐ Get estimates from removal companies, checking that comprehensive insurance cover is available against damage or loss. Is there a packing and unpacking service? Confirm the date of your move with the firm you have chosen.
- ☐ Check on your home contents insurance policies to ensure that you are covered for the move, and covered at your new address.
- ☐ Make arrangements for your gas and electricity meters (plus water meters where relevant) to be read and all your appliances to be disconnected on the day of your move.
- ☐ Arrange to take over gas and electricity at your new address, and make sure that all appliances will be properly fitted, plumbed or connected.
- ☐ Notify British Telecom and ask them to make the necessary arrangements for a final account at your present address, and for taking over or installing telephone facilities at your new home.
- ☐ Arrange for change of address cards to be printed.

WITH TWO WEEKS TO GO:

- ☐ Confirm all arrangements, times etc, for meter readings, disconnections and reconnections, with authorities and with your buyer and seller.
- ☐ Make sure you have a good stock of packing materials, including sturdy boxes and plenty of string and sticky tape.
- ☐ Begin to throw out unwanted items from attics, wardrobes. What you really don't want you may as well dump now, or send to charity. It's a great time for a good sort out!

WITH ONE WEEK TO GO:

- ☐ Send off change of address cards.
- ☐ Arrange and pay for automatic redirection of your mail by the Post Office.
- ☐ Cancel and pay up accounts for routine delivery services such as milk, groceries, fuel and your Cambridge Evening News. Re-organise these deliveries for your new address.
- ☐ Defrost refrigerators in preparation for move and, if you are moving a freezer and its contents, turn it up to maximum for a couple of days before you move.

WITH ONE DAY TO GO:

- ☐ Complete your packing except for those items you are likely to need overnight, and prepare a picnic for moving day.
- ☐ Have a large enough cash 'float' available to deal with unexpected expenses, and make sure you have collected documents and valuables together in a safe place.
- ☐ Cover carpets which are being left behind, so as to minimise damage during furniture removal.
- ☐ Check through previous lists to make sure nothing has been overlooked, then enjoy a worry-free early night!

2 ON MOVING DAY:

- ☐ Strip beds and pack bedding and nightclothes.
- ☐ Pack items for washing/toiletries.
- ☐ Take down curtains.
- ☐ Take up rugs, carpets, floor coverings, as required.
- ☐ Dismantle any light fittings etc., not included in the sale.
- ☐ Turn off electric appliances.
- ☐ Disconnect cooker.
- ☐ Turn off boiler/central heating.
- ☐ Turn off water.
- ☐ Read gas meter.
- ☐ Read electricity meter.
- ☐ Secure all windows.
- ☐ Lock all doors.
- ☐ Leave key as arranged with new owners.
- ☐ On arrival at your new home, unpack slowly and methodically so that you can check for loss or damage.

Bentley's here!

Volkswagen is moving on Up!

A THREE-DOOR hatchback – the Volkswagen Up! – has been named car of the year in the annual What Car? magazine awards, writes Peter Woodman.

The Up! combined “refinement, quality, space and economy,” said What Car? editor-in-chief Chas Hallett.

He went on: “It sets new standards for the £10,000 price bracket. It feels at home in town and copes admirably on the motorway – it is the right car for the time.”

Volkswagen also picked up two further awards – with the Volkswagen Golf being named best small family car for the fourth consecutive year and the Up! taking the safety award for its emergency braking system.

The awards, based on votes by What Car? readers, included the most exciting car for 2012 title which went to the Jaguar C-X16, which will be unveiled at the Geneva Motor Show in March and will be on sale by the end of the year with an expected price of £50,000.

Audi picked up three awards – with the A1 being named best supermini, the TT taking the coupe title and the TT Roadster the open-top award.

The Ford Mondeo was voted top family car and estate car, while the performance car of the year was the Porsche

One to watch: The Jaguar C-X16 is due this year.

911 Carrera S PDK.

The MPV award was won by the Seat Alhambra, with the Renault Mégane Renaultsport being voted best hot hatch.

The BMW X3 was the best SUV and the new BMW 3 Series took the executive car crown.

The Mercedes-Benz S-Class retained its luxury car title, Kia was presented with the ultra-low-carbon award, and MG won the security award.

Bentley Cambridge is now open

THERE was delight on the Milton Road last week as Bentley Cambridge opened the doors on its new showroom, which boasts a mezzanine floor (from which the photograph here was taken) along with a hospitality unit, plasma screen and commissioning table – and a full service department and three-ramp workshop.

The showroom house a maximum of 10 Bentleys and is run by general manager Steve Millward (pictured above).

“I am delighted to have been appointed as the general manager of Bentley Cambridge and to be a part of the rich history of this English marque,” says Steve. “It is exciting to be opening in line with the new generation of Bentley models, with the V8’s imminent arrival.

Launch night: Fiery thrills for Bentley Cambridge’s opening.

“Bentley Cambridge will be the first Bentley dealership to have opened in the United Kingdom in 20 years and, as such, it has been extremely important to recruit the right team to help develop its presence both nationally and in Cambridge.

“I am very proud of the Bentley Cambridge staff members who have been chosen for their knowledge, experience, commitment to excellent customer care, and passion for the Bentley brand. Over the coming months I look forward to developing relationships with local businesses and to Bentley Cambridge becoming part of the social calendar in Cambridge. It is my intention that the dealership will be a relaxed environment, where customers feel welcome and at ease.”

A new Bentley starts at £125,000, and a pre-owned starts at £37,950.

The main website for the dealership is www.cambridge.bentleymotors.com and the telephone number is (01223) 423515.

How to save fuel as you're driving

GREEN driving can cut carbon emissions and save you money, including some 15 per cent on fuel alone.

Whatever type of vehicle you drive, it's time to get into the green driving habit, so here's a few tips on saving fuel – and cutting CO2 emissions as you do:

■ The main principle of advanced driving – looking ahead to avoid having to stop so often – is also the key to green driving. Keep your vehicle moving as long as you can, even in traffic queues.

■ Driving at a constant speed is far more fuel efficient than accelerating and braking. It is also safer because stopping increases the risk of being hit from behind.

■ It will take most cars at least a couple of miles to warm up and run efficiently. Could you walk, cycle or use public transport?

■ If not, think about linking short trips together to avoid starting several journeys with a cold engine.

■ Reverse into parking bays: If you do all the manoeuvring with a hot engine you can drive straight off when you come back. This warms the engine up quickly.

■ Checking your vehicle regularly makes driving more efficient. In particular check the pressure of your tyres weekly, when they're cold. Wrongly inflated tyres have a big impact on fuel economy and they are also more vulnerable to damage. Check if your car has an eco-setting for its tyres.

■ Put your car on a diet. Remove unnecessary weight, including roof racks, car clutter and heavy items in the boot. The heavier you are, the more fuel you'll burn. Removing clutter from the car also reduces the risk of something rolling forward and sticking under a pedal.

■ Use air conditioning and climate control

Wrong: Most vehicles in this car park are incorrectly parked in terms of engine management. Reverse in when the engine is hot and you can move off easily when the engine is cold.

sparingly as they significantly increase fuel consumption. When frozen, scraping or spraying your windscreen before starting the engine will reduce the need to use these functions for as long.

■ Around town open your windows to cool the car down, but at high speeds, keep your windows closed to maintain the aerodynamics of the car. Use air-con to get the car to a comfortable temperature, and then turn it off.

■ Keeping the inside of the front and rear windscreens squeaky-clean will reduce the time you need to spend using the heating/air con to clear the screen. Traffic fumes form a film on the glass which attracts moisture and makes them mist up easily.

■ Stick to the speed limit. This offers a good compromise between economy and getting somewhere.

To help drivers stay safe this winter, the IAM has a new website – www.drivingadvice.org.uk – with traffic updates, weather forecasts and tips on how to drive safely in winter.

Tips cover rain, snow, ice, fog and wind – everything you can expect in a typically unpredictable British winter. Check it out before you travel.

'Like a fine Italian suit': The all-new Kia Optima.

Kia's all-new Optima due on February 1

THE Kia Optima, the all-new flagship saloon that is the latest model to be launched in Kia's designed product offensive, goes on sale in the UK on February 1, bringing fantastic design, high levels of standard specification and low running costs to the D-segment, from £19,595.

The Optima's looks alone will ensure it enjoys UK sales success previously unheard-of for a large Kia saloon. Kia's chief design officer, Peter Schreyer, likens the car's clean, stylish and uncomplicated cut to that of a fine Italian suit.

The Optima offers features never previously attainable on a Kia, including a high-end Infinity audio system. It delivers 550W of high-fidelity sound through 12 speakers in eight different locations throughout the car, including a boot-mounted subwoofer. Self-parking, heated and cool-ventilated seats, cornering lights, panoramic sunroof, reverse parking camera and an automatic cabin defogging system are also available, as is a six-speed automatic transmission that is among the most advanced available.

In the UK, the Kia Optima goes on sale with just one engine – a new 134bhp version of Kia's acclaimed 1.7-litre U2 turbodiesel – and a choice on the mid and top spec models of a six-speed manual or six-speed automatic transmissions.

All manual versions feature Kia's EcoDynamics fuel-saving, CO2-reducing measures, including Intelligent Stop & Go and aerodynamic drag-reducing measures, while automatics have an Active ECO button which alters the operation of the engine's electronic control unit and the compressor on the climate control system, bringing potential fuel savings of around 9 per cent.

The U2 diesel, engineered at Kia's European research and development centre in Germany, was first introduced on the Kia Sportage, but has been updated for use in the Optima. It features high-pressure common-rail fuel injection for maximum efficiency and a variable geometry turbocharger to enhance low-speed driveability while ensuring strong top-end power for the high motorway speeds common in Europe. It develops its maximum power at 4,000rpm, but of greater significance is the peak torque of 325Nm (239lb ft) from 2,000-2,500rpm.

Acceleration from 0-60mph takes 10.2 seconds in manual versions and 11.5 seconds with automatic transmission, while the respective top speeds are 125mph and 122mph.

The manual can achieve 57.6 miles per gallon, with CO2 emissions of 128g/km, while the figures for the automatic are 47.1mpg and 158g/km.

FOREST HEATH DISTRICT COUNCIL AND ST EDMUNDSBURGH BOROUGH COUNCIL LOCAL DEVELOPMENT FRAMEWORK (LDF) NOTICE OF CONSULTATION ON THE JOINT DEVELOPMENT MANAGEMENT POLICIES PREFERRED OPTIONS DEVELOPMENT PLAN DOCUMENT (OPD)

Regulation 25 of the Town and Country Planning (Local Development) (England) Regulations 2004 (Amended)
Forest Heath District Council & St Edmundsbury Borough Council have prepared a joint Development Plan Document as part of their respective Local Development Frameworks. The Development Plan Document is a list of policies against which, (amongst other material considerations), planning applications will be determined, and will be used in the day-to-day planning decisions and other decisions dealing with physical and environmental changes in each authority area.

The Document can be viewed, along with the link on how to make representations, hosted on the Forest Heath District Councils website at <http://www.forest-heath.gov.uk/info/200074/planning>
Copies are also available for inspection at the following locations during normal opening hours:

Representations are encouraged via electronic format but can also be made in writing and posted to: Marie Smith, Planning Department, Forest Heath District Council, District Offices, College Heath Road, Mildenhall, Suffolk, IP28 7EY.
Representations must be returned to the Council by 5.00pm on Thursday 8th March 2012.
Further information is available by contacting a member of the Planning Policy Section at the Forest Heath District Council Offices or by telephoning 01638 719446.
Anyone who comments will automatically be informed in writing of the subsequent stages in the preparation of the LDF.
Date: 10th January 2012.

Public Notices

Place Farm Community Primary School,
Camps Road, Haverhill, Suffolk, CB9 8HF
Head of School: Mrs Delyth Reed
Proposal to become a Foundation School

Notice is given in accordance with section 19(3) of the Education and Inspections Act 2006 that the Governing Body of Place Farm Community Primary School intends to make a prescribed alteration to Place Farm Primary School, Camps Road, Haverhill, Suffolk, CB9 8HF, currently a Community School. The proposed alteration is to change the category of the School to that of a Foundation School established otherwise than under the School Standards and Framework Act 1998 and to acquire a Minority of Partnership Governors from 1 April 2012.

Place Farm Community Primary School and Castle Manor Business and Enterprise College have together formed the Castle Partnership and are considering conversion to Academies. The Secretary of State has issued Academy Orders for both schools and preparatory work is continuing with a view to a final decision being taken once future funding arrangements are clearer.

In the meantime, Governors believe there is merit in taking the step to acquire greater independence by becoming Foundation schools for the following reasons. The powers and duties acquired through Foundation status would be consistent with the ethos of the Partnership and there would also be opportunity to review governance arrangements and to continue discussions with other partner schools, should they seek with us to convert to Academy status as part of formal multi-academy arrangements.

The Governing Body considers that Foundation Status would help the School by:

- Giving us greater independence consistent with the ethos of the Partnership
- Allowing us to benefit fully from the additional freedoms which Foundation status implies including employment of our staff and ownership of the school buildings and land.
- The above will enhance our capacity, ensuring that we are better able to represent the interests of Place Farm and the wider Partnership in the decisions that we take so that we can continue to meet our fundamental aim - improving standards in the School through the attainment and achievement of all our children.
- The steps involved would also reduce the work needed if the School later becomes an Academy
- Strengthening governance arrangements.

Principal: Madeleine Vigar

Proposal to become a Foundation School

Notice is given in accordance with section 19(3) of the Education and Inspections Act 2006 that the Governing Body of Castle Manor Business and Enterprise College intends to make a prescribed alteration to Castle Manor Business and Enterprise College, Eastern Avenue, Haverhill, Suffolk, CB9 9JE, currently a Community School. The proposed alteration is to change the category of the School to that of a Foundation School, established otherwise than under the School Standards and Framework Act 1998 and to acquire a Minority of Partnership Governors from 1 April 2012.

Castle Manor Business and Enterprise College and Place Farm Community Primary School have together formed the Castle Partnership and are considering conversion to Academies. The Secretary of State has issued Academy Orders for both schools and preparatory work is continuing with a view to a final decision being taken once future funding arrangements are clearer.

In the meantime, Governors believe there is merit in taking the step to acquire greater independence by becoming Foundation schools for the following reasons. The powers and duties acquired through Foundation status would be consistent with the ethos of the Partnership and there would also be opportunity to review governance arrangements and to continue discussions with other partner schools, should they seek with us to convert to Academy status as part of formal multi-academy arrangements.

The Governing Body considers that Foundation Status would help the College by:

- Giving us greater independence consistent with the ethos of the Partnership
- Allowing us to benefit fully from the additional freedoms which Foundation status implies including employment of our staff and ownership of the school buildings and land.
- The above will enhance our capacity, ensuring that we are better able to represent the interests of Castle Manor and the wider Partnership in the decisions that we take so that we can continue to meet our fundamental aim - improving standards in the School through the attainment and achievement of all our children.
- The steps involved would also reduce the work needed if the College later becomes an Academy
- Strengthening governance arrangements.

This Notice is an extract from the complete proposal, copies of which can be obtained from: Rebecca Abbott at the College address set out at the beginning of this notice or rabbott@castlepartnership.org.uk.

Within four weeks from the date of publication of this proposal, any person may object to or make comments on the proposal by sending them to Rebecca Abbott at the College address or by email to rabbott@castlepartnership.org.uk.

Today our Prison Custody Officers will have worked with murderers, thieves, young offenders, and innocent people not to mention police officers, barristers, judges and some traffic jams!

Serco Wincanton is the leading provider of prison escort and court services in London and the East of England and is responsible for the secure transport of offenders from police stations and prisons to court and then managing them within the court environment.

We are currently looking to recruit suitable individuals on a PART TIME basis.

The work of Prison Custody Officer is no ordinary job, each day you will work with a changing group of people – some very demanding, others not so but all needing to be treated in the same fair and objective manner.

Successful Prison Custody Officers are,

- Non judgemental
- Good and effective communicators
- Able to deal with conflict with confidence
- Team workers
- Committed to treating everyone with dignity and respect
- Able to maintain a safe and secure environment for everyone.

In order to ensure our service is efficient as possible we need to have staff to cover peak activity times and therefore will consider applicants with the right qualities who want to work less than the normal 40 per week. This could include weekend and Bank Holiday working.

There is a 6 week training programme so no previous experience is needed but full time attendance on this course is essential.

Appointment is subject to achieving the required standard in vetting and security validation.

To apply, please call 07721 302668 or email pecs.recruitment@serco.com with your name and contact number and someone from the recruitment team will get back to you as soon as possible.

Your CV

When you send your CV off to a potential employer, remember that you won't be the only one. Hundreds of other people could be applying for the job as well.

So what are you going to do to make you stand out from the crowd? Why should an employer take a chance on you instead of someone else?

Your CV is your first real chance to sell yourself to a potential employer. Most employers will scan through a CV in about 30 seconds so you need to grab their attention from the start - and make them want to invite you for an interview.

There are five main areas to consider when writing your CV:

- Make sure your CV looks the part. Your CV should look clean and tidy - don't scrawl it out on a piece of A4 paper. If you haven't got access to a PC or printer, ask a friend or use your local library. Use a good quality paper and steer clear of fancy borders and front covers.
- Watch out for silly spelling and grammar mistakes. They make you look lazy and show employers that you don't really care. It's not difficult to do a spell check on your PC and if you're really stuck then don't just guess, reach for a dictionary. Get a friend to read through your CV for you - a second opinion is always useful.
- Make sure your CV is well organised. When you list your previous jobs, make sure the dates are correct and try not to leave any gaps. If you took time out to go travelling then say so - employers won't mark you down just because you've tried something new.
- Don't waffle. Remember that employers don't have time to read every word of your CV. Long paragraphs and sentences put people off, so try bullet-points to break up text. Make sure your CV is no longer than two pages long - employers don't want your life history, they just want to see that you've got what it takes to do the job.
- Don't list any failures. Employers have enough trouble finding someone who is right for the job - they don't need help finding reasons not to employ you. If you have to include a mistake from your past, make sure you show the employer that you learnt something from the experience.

Keep it simple

Personal details

Start off with your full name, address, date of birth, home and mobile phone numbers, email address and nationality. If you are offered an interview, the employer will want to get hold of you so give him as many options as possible.

Summary/professional profile

This is the No1 area for selling yourself. Set out your main skills and personal qualities but keep it interesting and tight - one paragraph should do to cover everything.

Education and qualifications

List your qualifications and education history, with the most recent first. You don't need to list the grades for each exam you have passed unless they were exceptional results - simply listing the number and type of exams you've passed is fine. Also, list any relevant professional organisations you belong to and training courses you have been on.

Work experience

Start with your most recent position and work backwards, giving addresses along with start and finish dates. Set out your main responsibilities, duties and most importantly achievements, along with any skills you picked up or improvements you made while you were there. This is a really important section in your CV so make it count - but don't waffle.

If you have not had a full-time job before, detail any part-time jobs you may have held or any placement you have been on.

Other skills

Set out any computer skills you may have and the software you are most familiar with. Can you type, do shorthand or speak a foreign language fluently? If you have a driving licence, let the employer know. If it's clean, tell them.

Interests & hobbies

Briefly list what you get up to in your spare time. Put down any positions you hold in clubs or associations, along with any responsibilities and achievements.

References

Make sure you have at least two people (including one from your previous or current job) who will tell an employer what a thoroughly nice person you are and what a potential asset to the company you would be.

If you want to list them now make sure you include their name, job title, postal & e-mail address and contact phone numbers. Alternatively, just put "Available on request" so the employer knows to follow up references at a later date.

Add a covering letter

The main aim of a covering letter is to encourage an employer to give you a chance. You want them to read your CV, so sell it to them. You should always enclose a covering letter when applying for a job - most employers won't consider you unless you do.

A covering letter should let the employer know why you are interested in the job and why you think you can do it.

The hints and tips below should point you in the right direction:

- Keep it simple. A covering letter should be short and to the point - no more than six paragraphs.
- Mention the job. If you are replying to an advert, mention what the job is and where you saw it. The company may be advertising for other positions and it may not be clear which job you are applying for.
- Sell yourself. Explain why you are the perfect candidate for the job. Show off your strengths and experience. Refer to your CV - if it goes missing then at least an employer will know that you've sent it.
- Check it for mistakes. A silly spelling mistake in a covering letter is likely to cost you your chance of getting an interview. Also, make sure it is addressed to the right person in the right department.

A covering letter can be just as important as a CV in getting you an interview. It's your first point of contact with your potential employer - so make it count.

&gt;&gt; Wheelchair basketball

THREE-TIME Paralympian Caroline Maclean helped wheelchair basketball teams Eastern Blue Stars and Aspire Stars raise more than £400 towards their training and travel expenses at an exhibition game.

The only women's wheelchair basketball sides in East Anglia went through their paces in a two-hour fund-raising drive, demonstrating their skills and taking part in an exhibition game against members of the Westbury Community Association and Social Club, most having never sat in a wheelchair before.

Haverhill-based Maclean said: "It's been such a great atmosphere, and we're thrilled to have raised so much in just two hours. "It was great to be able to give both adults and children the opportunity to watch us warm-up and play, as well as actually having a go in a basketball wheelchair and trying to shoot. "The top scorer in the penalty shoot-out only got one basket, which shows how difficult it is to get a basket from a sitting position."

Hills sparks Wratting rally

West Wrating 3 Lakenheath 2

Kershaw League, Premier Division

DANNY Hills hit a hat-trick as West Wrating hit back twice to take the points.

Luke Butcher put the visitors in front after five minutes and then after 30 minutes – both headers from corners – sandwiching Hills' first equaliser when he beat two defenders to blast home.

His second leveller came after Craig Cutts squared the ball to him and then grabbed the winner midway through the second half.

Wrating joint-manager Brian Pilgrim said: "We were outstanding. We defended and counter-attacked really well, so I'm pleased we got the three points."

Bishop Stortford 1 Haverhill Rovers 2

Eastern Junior Alliance, under-14

WILL Bailey scored the decisive goal as Haverhill finally put 10-man Bishop's Stortford to bed in a scrappy match on a bumpy, frost-affected pitch. Bailey struck in the second half, beating the home defence to fire home as they worked hard to compensate for having a numerical disadvantage.

Bailey earlier thought he had earned a penalty for his side but the foul went unpunished. However, Rovers did earn a spot-kick when a Stortford player handled Michael Johnson's header on the line.

The defender was sent off and Charlie Lewis tucked away the spot kick. Stortford raised their game and equalised, but they had no answer to Bailey's winner.

Godmanchester Rov 4 West Wrating 2

Cambridge and District Colts League Cup, quarter-final

TWO goals in the final stages of the tie sent West Wrating packing. In a good match, played at a high tempo, Ben Weedon put Wrating back on level terms after an early setback.

Mark Coulson put them ahead with a well-taken penalty in the second half but they missed some good chances to kill off the tie, and were ultimately undone by Godmanchester's late rally.

Comberton Crusaders 1 Kedington 3

Cambridge and District Colts League Cup, under-14

KEDINGTON'S sharper finishing earned them victory. They broke the deadlock midway through a fairly even first half, when Ty Alleyne's shot was only partially cleared to skipper Jason Moore, who turned it back in for Steve Boyles to convert.

Alleyne doubled the score soon after, collecting Boyles' deft flick to race through and fire past the keeper.

Comberton cut the deficit with a scrambled goal just before the break but Kedington wrapped up the game up early in the second half when Leon Bailey's cross found Alleyne, who unselfishly set up Bailey Cassidy, who blasted home.

Bareham's out of luck

EAMONN Bareham missed out on the leading places in the four-ball better-ball competition at the Bungay and Waveney Suffolk Alliance Meeting.

Partnering Bill Darling (Stowmarket), the Haverhill player finished with 40 points behind John Foord (Felixstowe Ferry) and Robin Hood (Brett Vale) on 43 points and Ian Wheelodon and David Bailey (Ufford Park & Diss) 42 points, and Tony Paine and John Partridge 41pts (Rushmere & Stoke-by-Nayland) 41 points.

■ A better back-nine score helped Jane Herrington win the ladies' stableford on countback from Mary Sail after both finished with 36 points. Catie Heathfield was third with 32pts.

The men's midweek medal also went to countback, Gordon Gibson finally getting the nod after his nett score of 67. He has since had his handicap cut to 18.

Division One: 1 Andy Gage 79-12-67 on countback from 2 Tim Daniels 79-12-67, 3 Alan Carter 77-9-68.

Division Two: 1 Gordon Gibson 86-19-67, 2 Stuart Haworth 89-20-69, 3 Trevor Smith 88-18-70. Division Three: 1 David Chapman 95-23-72, 2 Ken Johnson 94-21-73, 3 Roger Corbett 98-21-77.

■ The junior medal competition also produced a close finish in both categories, although because of the switch to a number of temporary greens the event was a non-qualifier. Michael Perrett came out on top in the white tee competition with Jason Carpenter edging the yellow tee players.

White tees: 1 Michael Perrett 72-6-66 on countback from 2 James Higham 78-12-66, 3 Liam Merritt 79-6-73. Yellow tee: 1 Jason Carpenter 108-36-72, 2 Dan Walker 106-34-72, 3 Edward Halpin 101-29-72.

Haverhill set for a harder Woodbridge test

Haverhill 55 Woodbridge II 5
Suffolk Merit League

HAVERHILL are anticipating a more searching examination on Saturday (2pm) when they face Woodbridge's first team at home in the Suffolk Plate.

The club's second team were ruthlessly put to the sword last weekend, but Haverhill are prepared for a tougher clash against a team from a higher level as they go in search of their second piece of silverware this season.

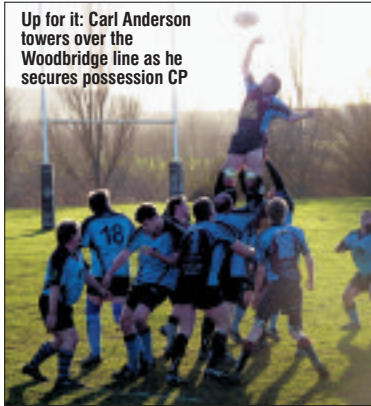

Woodbridge II arrived at the Castle Playing Fields with only 13 players, and with the rules about substitutions and replacement front rows are abandoned in support of the league's ethos of "play rugby first", Haverhill dropped to 14.

It was always going to be a hard day at the office for the visitors, who had to throw in the towel after 55 minutes when two further players were forced off with injuries.

They nevertheless made a bright start and only stoic defence from Adam Hunt, Mike Woods and Stuart Newman prevented them scoring more points.

Haverhill, though, opened the scoring on five minutes, Gavin Hope scampering over from 30m and stretched clear with another after 15 minutes which stemmed from Harry Marsh winning a line-out and Woods breaking 50m. From a scrum, Simon Potter won the ball against the head and Potter sent in Hope for his second. Hunt added the conversion.

Hunt went over for the third try, which he also converted, after Potter's 30m run and Potter got on the scoresheet after another flowing backs move on 30 minutes. Hunt's conversion took the score to 26-0.

That became 31-0 soon after the restart when Micky Lansdowne's powerful 40m drive released Newman, who was in for a certain try until play was called back for a forward pass. Haverhill destroyed the scrum, the resulting penalty was kicked to 10m, and Haverhill's catch and drive led to Flannery spinning over.

A penetrating run from Hunt and a series of passes between backs and forwards put Hope in for his hat-trick, with Hunt's conversion making it 38-0 on the whistle.

Half-time predictions that weakened Woodbridge were on the ropes seemed premature when the visitors scored after 42 minutes.

However, quick-thinking prop Dave Quinney took a quick tap-penalty and ploughed over to restore Haverhill's hefty points advantage within two minutes.

Newman and Woods added further touchdowns soon after, and with 'try-a-minute' rugby looking likely – particularly as the second visiting player limped off – the referee called a halt after Hunt's conversion.

Friendly

CONSIDERING that last season Haverhill struggled to complete their programme because of a player shortage, the fact that they were able to play two games on Saturday – with the seconds also travelling with two replacements – made the fixture at Shelford a success, regardless of the scoreline.

Coach Peter Lester, who set out to establish the second team again as the platform for young players progressing from the club's youth set-up to play with experienced players, described Saturday's team as a "perfect mix of old, new, experienced and inexperienced men enjoying the game of rugby. Pity about the result."

Shelford, who used their tried and tested scissors move to perfection, were three tries to the good before Keiron McDonagh, who had delayed his start because of a back twinge in the warm-up, picked up ball won against the head to gallop 30m to touch down.

Soon after, Neil Richards put Paulo Nash through to put some more points on the board.

Shelford, 31-10 ahead at the interval, added another try soon after but were forced on the back foot when the hard-working Alan Burnett, who had done well to stay on for so long, had to go off and man-of-the-match McDonagh dropped back No 8 to partner Daren Carew.

After an agreed break, Shelford scored again, but the Haverhill scrum started to get on top and the last score went to McDonagh, who finished off a good couple of phases of play.

Ref pulls plug on Rovers' late show

Haverhill Rovers 1 Wroxham 2
Ridgeons League, Premier Division

HAVERHILL Rovers were denied a draw against the runaway league leaders in highly-controversial circumstances.

After trailing 2-0, Rovers launched a stunning comeback which looked to have salvaged a point when, with time running out, Stuart Kingham hooked a deep cross back into the area and Greg Strong rose to head home.

However, before the ball hit the net, referee Adrian Gillett had blown to signal the end of the game, leaving the New Croft fans shell-shocked.

It was a bitter end to a game in which Rovers emerged with a good deal of credit.

Wroxham took the lead on 16 minutes when a free kick from Shaun Howes went through the home side's defensive wall and deceived keeper Aaron Benstead.

Dan Cornwell forced a good stop from Wroxham's Michael Hilton five minutes later, and although Benstead had to be alert to save from Gary Gilmore following a run from the ever-dangerous Jordan Rocastle, Rovers more than held their own in the run up to half time.

They dominated the majority of the second half in their search for an equaliser, Cornwell shooting wide when through after 48 minutes, and he had the ball in the Wroxham goal three minutes later, only to have it chalked off for offside.

Marcus Hunt hit the bar in the 70th minute, but the game seemed settled six minutes later when Matthew Daniels burst through the Rovers defence only to be up-ended by Benstead for a penalty which he duly converted. Backed by a vocal crowd, Rovers hit back and when Jack Wilkinson headed in Jack Higgs' cross, an unlikely comeback looked on the cards.

Unfortunately for Rovers, the equaliser was just a split-second too late.

■ Rovers travel to Mildenhall in the league on Saturday before making another attempt to play their Cambs Invitation Cup quarter-final at Wisbech on Tuesday. Their original tie this week was postponed because the Fenmen's pitch was unfit.
